Chapter 59.5 : The Armies of the Lesser Absolutes (summary)

The Lesser Absolute Beings, each ruling their own immense inner world, realized the need for powerful armies to manage, protect, and develop their domains. These armies were tailored to their creators' unique energies and themes, becoming an extension of their will and essence.

---

1. Lumiel's Army of Light (Luxoria Eterna)

Source: Born from the primordial light radiating from Ashborn's inner worlds, created through Lumiel's mastery of creation and celestial energy.

Composition:

Celestial Archons (10,000): Elite commanders in golden armor, with twelve radiant wings and spears of light capable of devastating mountains.

Luminara Knights (1 billion): Heavy infantry in shimmering silver armor with solar-flaring swords and shields.

Lightborn Legion (100 billion): Rank-and-file humanoid figures of pure light, armed with energy bows.

Seraphim Riders (5 million): Sky patrol mounted on winged beasts, swift and strategic in attacks.

Weapons and Appearance: Radiant blades, spears, and shields; glowing, mirror-like armor that reflects battlefield light.

Roles: Defenders of harmony, purgers of corruption, and builders of celestial civilizations.

---

2. Umbrios' Shadow Legion (Umbra Nexum)

Source: Forged from condensed shadows within the Shadowforge, combining the darkness of the worlds with Umbrios' essence.

Composition:

Shadow Warlords (50,000): Generals with colossal forms, massive weapons, and auras of fear.

Ebon Knights (500 million): Armored soldiers wielding jagged blades and void shields.

Nocturnal Stalkers (10 billion): Stealth units skilled in ambushes, using poison-tipped daggers.

Nightshade Beasts (2 million): Gigantic shadow creatures used as mounts and siege engines.

Weapons and Appearance: Dark-edged swords, crescent scythes, shadow-infused bows, with semi-ethereal forms and glowing violet eyes.

Roles: Specialists in guerrilla warfare, enforcers of order, and explorers of the unknown abyss.

---

3. Drakion’s Draconic Host (Drakarys Aeterna)

Source: Drawn from volcanic cores and the dragonkin essence of the worlds, each soldier empowered by Drakion himself.

Composition:

Draconian Overlords (20,000): Humanoid dragons with fire wings and indestructible scales, serving as lieutenants.

Flameborn Legionnaires (1 billion): Infantry clad in molten armor, wielding flaming swords.

Skybound Wyverns (100 million): Mounted dragonkin who rain fiery projectiles from the skies.

Infernal Titans (1 million): Massive magma beasts, used for large-scale sieges.

Weapons and Appearance: Flaming swords, lava hammers, fire-forged spears, and bodies emitting immense heat.

Roles: Guardians of the core, destroyers of large-scale chaos, and engineers of volcanic weapons and cities.

Awareness of Their Creators

Each Lesser Absolute Being—Lumiel, Umbrios, and Drakion—was keenly aware of their creators, the Divine Triad. While they ruled independently, they occasionally reported on their realms out of respect, not necessity.

The Divine Triad observed these reports with interest, satisfied by their creations’ management of power. These armies became the foundation of order, suppressing chaos and fostering growth across the inner worlds.